

DUGGAN INQUEST SUM-UP TO BEGIN

THE coroner in charge of the inquest into the fatal shooting of Mark Duggan by a police marksman is due to start summing up today.

Mr Duggan was shot dead in Ferry Lane, Tottenham, in August 2011 after officers stopped a minicab in which he was travelling. His death sparked riots which spread across the capital and nationwide.

The inquest at the Royal Courts of Justice has been addressing the circumstances surrounding the 29-year-old's death – specifically whether he was armed when he was shot.

The ten-week inquest, overseen by coroner Judge Keith Cutler, has heard from around 100 witnesses, including police officers, forensics experts and independent eyewitnesses.

The police officer who fired the fatal shot – known only as V53 – told the jury that Mr Duggan, from the Broadwater Farm estate, in Tottenham, had been armed. But pathologist Derrick Pounder cast doubt on how Mr Duggan could have thrown a handgun he was alleged to have been carrying some 14 feet from where his body was found.

Summing-up will take place today and tomorrow. The inquest is not due to sit on Friday.

Domestic violence on the rise in Haringey

DOMESTIC violence incidents rose by 3.6 per cent in Haringey in the past year.

In the latest figures from the Metropolitan Police covering the 12-month period to September 2013, there were 1,715 incidences of domestic violence reported across the borough.

The figures were released as part of the London Probation Trust's efforts to promote White Ribbon Day last week, marking the UN's international day for the elimination of violence against women.

Kuljit Sandhu, head of rehabilitation services at London Probation Trust, said: "We are continuing to improve our work with the perpetrators of domestic violence through targeted programmes which address abusive and controlling behaviours."

Duo playing 250 gigs in 250 days roll 'stinky van' into Manor House

A DUO of much-travelled musicians will be stopping off in Manor House next week in a quest to play 250 gigs in 250 days.

Jack Cox and Andy Vyse make up West Country acoustic two-piece Delve, who are influenced by acts including Nick Drake and Bon Iver.

They are currently gigging around the UK and Ireland on the Food and Fuel tour.

The aim is to get a meal from each venue at which they play, as well as picking up enough money to pay for the petrol to their next venue.

The final concert is scheduled for December 21 at the Regal Rooms, in Hammersmith, west London.

Before then, Delve are playing at The Finsbury pub, in Green Lanes, Manor House, next Tuesday evening.

The two, who say that the tour has been about "two men, two guitars, one stinky van and a whole lot of road to cover", worked in telesales for a year to fund their venture, which started in March.

A three-track EP of Delve's music featuring tracks by Kelsey, Lakes and Sea and The Dripping Green is available online at delveband.bandcamp.com

If you like that, check them out at the free gig at The Finsbury, which will also feature The Bondfire Band, The Beatrix Players and Plenty Wild.

Available to pick up at: Sainsbury's, Williamson Road, Green Lanes; Tesco, 230 High Road, South Tottenham; Sainsbury's, 867-869 High Road, Tottenham; Asda, 490 High Road Tottenham; Tesco Express, 25 The Broadway, Crouch End; Morrisons, High Road, Wood Green; Sainsbury's, 54-58 High Road, Wood Green; Wood Green Central Library, Wood Green; Alexandra Park Library, Alexandra Park Road, Wood Green; Coombes Croft Library, High Road, Tottenham; Hornsey Library, Haringey Park; Marcus Garvey Library, Tottenham Green Centre, 1 Phillip Lane; Muswell Hill Library, Queens Ave, Muswell Hill; St Ann's Library, Cissbury Road, South Tottenham; Stroud Green Library, Quernmore Road.

Sign up to run 5km dressed as Santa

PEOPLE are being encouraged to sign up for a 5km run in aid of a children's charity – dressed as Father Christmas.

The second annual Santa Dash takes place on Saturday from Muswell Hill to Crouch End, starting at 10am.

It is in aid of the London Centre for Children with Cerebral Palsy.

Participants can walk, run or jog the three-mile route, which starts at the charity's centre at 54 Muswell Hill and finishes at the Maynard Arms, in Park Road, Crouch End, where there will be a medal ceremony and celebratory drink.

Anyone taking part is asked to raise £50 for LCCCP. To enter the Santa Dash, visit www.cplondon.org.uk

Half-price parking offer

HARINGEY Council has offered motorists half-price parking until the end of December.

The discount is available for anyone using car parks' on-street pay-and-display bays, or pay with the council's cashless PayByPhone mobile app.

Cabinet member for environment John Bevan said: "The run-up to Christmas is such an important time for shoppers and local retailers. That is why this year's festive parking scheme is about ensuring all town centres benefit from parking reductions during every Saturday and Sunday in December."

Charity's Lottery boost

A HARINGEY charity for children whose parents have cancer has received almost £10,000 of Lottery funding.

Don't Forget The Kids, which is based in Kings Road, Tottenham, was handed a £9,947 funding boost in the latest round of Big Lottery Fund Awards For All grants.

Councillor wins support for bid to protect girls from mutilation

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

A COUNCILLOR is demanding that the borough steps up its efforts in protecting young girls from the trauma of female genital mutilation.

Denise Headley, who represents Bush Hill Park ward, raised a motion at last Wednesday's full council meeting in the civic centre in Silver Street calling on the authority to launch a raft of measures to stamp out the abuse and do more to bring perpetrators to justice.

The practice of slicing away and sometimes repositioning a young girl's genitalia, which is not based in religious belief, is practised in some western, eastern and north-eastern regions of Africa as well as in some countries in Asia and the Middle East.

Ms Headley is determined that in order to ramp up the prosecution rate in the UK a screening programme needs to be put in place in all the borough's primary and secondary schools.

At last week's meeting the Conservative councillor proposed a motion that: "This council agrees to work in a non-adversarial and collaborative manner to investigate FGM in Enfield and how it is affecting our community and instructs the cabinet members for community well-being and public health and children and young people to work collectively with the health and well-being board, the opposition lead on health and education and the elders and leaders in the affected communities, to find a mechanism to better understand the issue and how we can prevent any Enfield child enduring the procedure."

All councillors voiced support for the motion. However, the cabinet member for public health and community well-being, Christine Hamilton, proposed an amendment to the motion which reminded councillors that Enfield was the first London council to be awarded White Ribbon status for its work in tackling violence against women and girls.

The amendment said: "This council agrees to continue to build on the work already under way in order to stamp out this child abuse to ensure that no child in Enfield endures this procedure." The amendment was passed. However, Ms Headley is calling for further action.

Speaking after the meeting, she told the Advertiser: "I am calling for a borough-wide screening programme to be launched throughout primary and secondary schools – and it is possible to do this in the same way all girls are given the HPV vaccine in secondary schools.

"If there's the political will, we can do this," she added.

Five suspects seized in pre-dawn raids on gangs

By Koos Couvée

koos.couvee@nlhnews.co.uk

FIVE suspected gang members were arrested in dawn raids in the early hours of yesterday morning as part of a police clampdown on violence and drug dealing.

Operation Naddoox saw the Met Police's Trident Gang Command join forces with the Enfield Gangs Unit to target suspected members of the Dem Africans gang, which is active in the Edmonton area, where officers believe it controls much of the supply of crack cocaine and heroin.

Following raids at addresses in Galliard Road and Winchester Road, in Edmonton, and in Highview Gardens, Upper Park Road and Whitmore Close, in Arncliffe, officers arrested five suspected gang members aged between 6 and 22-years old and recovered a quantity of crack cocaine and cash.

The five suspects were taken to a north London police station. They are expected to be charged with drug offences and appear at Highbury Magistrates' Court today.

Detective Chief Inspector Paul Healy, of the Enfield Gangs Unit, said: "The people of Enfield will benefit from these two operations. I want to take this opportunity to reinforce to any young people contemplating becoming involved in gangs to think of the consequences in doing so."

"We have the means and capability to target those involved in such criminality and bring to bear the full strength of the law."

The raids came as part of a three-month operation which has seen Trident officers team up with the gangs unit.

Officers said that the focus on suspected Dem Africans members follows a series of

Swoop: Police officers at an address in Edmonton yesterday morning raids on the rival Get Money Gang, which is believed to control drugs in the EN3 post-code.

Detective Chief Inspector Tim Champion, of the Trident Central Gangs Unit, said: "Our unit's primary focus is to work with communities, local authorities, charities and other agencies to prevent young people from joining gangs in the first place."

"All those arrested were offered the opportunity to escape from gang culture. Those involved in gangs should also be aware that there is a way out and that there are people we can put them in touch with to help turn their lives around, from mentors, to education centres to potential employers. However, if you remain in a gang and if you continue to commit crime, then we will keep targeting you."

Since September, officers have executed a total of 46 warrants and made 155 arrests, 105 of which are of known gang members.

18 per cent surge in reports of domestic violence

REPORTS of domestic violence have shot up by 18 per cent over the past 12 months, figures released by the London Probation Trust have revealed.

The latest snapshot across London's local authorities has revealed there were 1,891 reports of domestic violence in the borough during the year to September, compared to 1,551 last year. The average increase across the capital is six per cent.

The figures were released as part of the trust's efforts to promote White Ribbon Day, the United Nations' International Day for the Elimination of Violence Against Women, which took place on November 25.

Enfield Council, which was the first London local authority to be awarded White Ribbon status by the national White Ribbon Campaign for its work in raising awareness of domestic abuse, marked the day last week with a conference dedicated to the issue.

Christine Hamilton, cabinet member for community well-being and public health, said the increase was a sign that more women are reporting abuse.

"Domestic abuse is one of the few crimes where a rise in convictions is actually a sign that we are more successfully raising awareness," she said.

"It happens behind closed doors and countless women do not report it. Research has found that on average, women are beaten 32 times before they decide to seek help, so the increase is a good sign."

Kuljit Sandhu, head of rehabilitation services at the London Probation Trust, said: "We are continuing to improve our work with the perpetrators of domestic violence, through targeted programmes which address abusive and controlling behaviour."

"Our domestic abuse programmes teach offenders alternative skills and behaviours to help them develop healthy, non-abusive relationships."

The trust works with perpetrators and supports victims from a wide variety of domestic settings, including male victims and same-sex relationships.

Those experiencing domestic violence, or know someone who is, are encouraged to call the National Domestic Violence Helpline on 0808 2000 247. Locally, people can contact the Solace Women's Aid Advice Line on 0808 802 5565 and the North London Rape Crisis Centre on 020 7619 1369.

Murder hunt under way after boy, 17, is stabbed

Taped off: Police officers at the scene of the stabbing in Bowes Road, Palmers Green

FRIENDS have paid tribute to a 17-year-old boy, who was stabbed to death in Palmers Green in the early hours of yesterday morning.

The teenager, named locally as Joshua Folkes, from New Southgate, died from stab wounds after he was attacked in Bowes Road just after 12.45am.

Officers from Enfield Police and paramedics from the London Ambulance Service and London's Air Ambulance rushed to the scene but were unable to save the boy, who was pronounced dead at 1.26am.

Kelsey Fashani, 17, who said she had known Joshua for years, visited the site with her mother yesterday morning after hearing the news.

With tears rolling down her cheeks, she told the Advertiser: "I have known him for years and everybody loved him. He was so calm and lovely. He was a big Arsenal fan and he was very much into his music. This is another young life lost. It is really horrible."

Kelsey was one of a number of friends who visited the scene, while others paid tribute through social media websites.

Zaisha Miller, another friend, posted on Twitter: "Rest in perfect peace Joshua Folkes. You will be dearly missed, heaven's got a new angel RIP xxxxxx."

Police have launched a murder investigation and are appealing for witnesses. Anyone with information is being asked to contact the incident room on 020 8785 8244 or Crimestoppers, anonymously on 0800 555 111.

The teenager's next of kin has been informed. A post-mortem examination will be held at Haringey Mortuary in due course.

At time of going to press no arrests have been made.

Parade lights up the

In good voice: Carol singing was led by a choir from St Anne's Catholic High School for Girls

THE streets of Enfield were filled with lights on Sunday evening as the annual parade to mark the beginning of the festive season came to town.

The Parade of Lights concluded a weekend of festivities in Enfield Town which included street performers and live music in the market square organised by the Enfield Business and Retailers' Association.

Members of the Scouts, theatre companies and dance troupes took part in the parade, which began outside the civic centre in Silver

Street and headed along Baker Street to Lancaster Road, along Chase Side and through Enfield Town to the Christmas tree situated at the junction of London Road and Church Street.

After the parade the mayor of Enfield Chaudhury Anwar turned on the Christmas tree lights before a carol service led by a choir from St Anne's Catholic High School for Girls and a fireworks display sponsored by the retailers' association, G Mantella and McDonald's.

Town centre manager Mark Rudling said: "The whole weekend was a huge success. It brought additional people into the town, the shops were all busy and there were smiles on so many faces especially on Saturday with the street acts.

"It so nice being able to go to the town centre to do your shopping. It's a great atmosphere that gets you in the Christmas spirit, which is something you don't get when you shop online."

Boris backs bid

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

THE Mayor of London visited Enfield Town last Thursday as part of a whistle-stop tour campaigning for the council to reduce business rates.

After opening the new G Mantella laser clinic in Church Street, Boris Johnson toured a number of independent businesses in Lancaster Road, alongside Enfield North MP Nick de Bois, pledging to help in their battle to get their rates bill cut.

The campaign launch came the morning after Mr Johnson had delivered the annual Margaret Thatcher lecture when he said cranes on the skyline, traffic jams and soaring house prices of London reminded him of the

Getting down to business: Boris Johnson and Erdal Mehmet, of G Mantella

Empty shops are deterring others from

AFTER declaring he had found the "elixir of youth" in the upstairs annex of G Mantella's jewellers in Church Street, the mayor was whisked off to meet independent traders in Lancaster Road.

Award-winning hairdresser James Whitaker, who has built up a prosperous business in the midst of the recession, was the first stop.

Asked if he really needed a rates cut as he was thriving, Mr Whitaker said that any help would make life working in an area outside the town centre easier.

"I am doing well because I have had to do so much marketing myself," he told the Advertiser. "Really, it is the fact that the shops have been empty along here for so long, businesses don't want to move into the area because they see premises that have been lying empty for years."

Across the road Lancaster Cafe owner Dennis

Murat Karatas admitted that his most pressing concern was the spate of newly-opened eateries nearby – squeezing his profit margins.

"In the past three years four different cafes have opened in Lancaster Road," he explained. "I've told the council how can you pay off your rates if competition keeps being given permission to open just metres from here."

Proving how independent shops have to up their game to stay afloat, owner of bead and jewellery design shop Indivjewelistic Trish Kelly said that as well as the workshops and consultations she offers she has to have a strong online presence for people who can't make it to the shop.

But she stressed that her business could be given a huge boost by easing her business rates.

"Only five per cent of our business is online," she said. "Most people doing something creative like this prefer to actually come into the shop."

to cut business rates height of the 1980s' boom years.

Referring to how the same divide between the have and have not that characterised the 1980s seemed to be deepening, he said: "I don't believe that economic equality is possible. Indeed, some measure of inequality is essential for the spirit of envy and keeping up with the Joneses that is, like greed, a valuable spur to economic activity."

Despite appearing to endorse survival of the fittest free market economics less than 12 hours earlier, Mr Johnson was adamant on his visit to Enfield that more should be done by local government to give special support to small, independent businesses who are struggling in the current economic climate.

When asked why he was pushing for additional support for small independent ents in the light of his comments the previous night, he insisted: "We are going to have an economic recovery but what I said last night is I hope it is not going to be like it was in the 1980s."

"There is a great campaign going on here, led by Nick de Bois, to help show people how important their high street is, that I fully support."

Denying that the struggling high street was an inevitable product of market forces, he said: "There are 800,000 small businesses in London and it is people like Mr Mantella who are the backbone of our high streets – they are the ones who are the employers, who will boost this economy. They are the lifeblood of our high streets."

Joining him on the whistle-stop tour was campaign leader Mr de Bois, who chipped in when Mr Johnson was asked if shoring up small businesses at times of recession was the best use of taxpayers' money. He said: "We are not taking money from taxpayers, we just want to take less taxpayers' money away from businesses."

However, Doug Taylor, the leader of Enfield Council, warned that any tax cut for small businesses would mean a hike in council tax to pay for it.

"I would say the simple fact is we have faced in the order of £70million of cuts and I would like to know where the cost of any reduction will come from," he said. "Any reduction would have to come from an increase in council tax in order to pay for a reduction of business rates."

Mr Taylor also refuted the idea that the economy of Enfield would be boosted significantly by giving tax breaks to small businesses.

"We have calculated that welfare cuts have taken about £100m out of the local economy and the VAT increase has really meant people have less money to spend on the high street," he added.

"I would like to ask the Tories how much they think it would cost. The reality is – they have no idea."

COMMENT

Let's put an end to this mutilation

SLICING and stitching a young girl's genitals is barbaric. It is an unspeakable act of torture and despite the fact that it is known that women in our own country have suffered this mutilation, chances to act are allowed to slide by - one after another.

We have a duty to protect the young women of our country from this horror - we cannot let them be whisked off to a world of unsterilised razor blades and superstition simply because we are squeamish about intervening in an accepted "cultural practice".

This is not a political football.

Everyone is equally horrified by the thought that girls in our schools might be subjected to this torture.

So politicians' attempt to wring glory for themselves by mentioning their successes in taking action against domestic violence in the same breath as discussing what measures can be taken to stop any woman in the borough from suffering, smacks of glib political point scoring.

The council has succeeded in an area that was once considered people's personal business - in much the same way that FGM still is - and that is very much to the team's credit.

But if they are going to draw that parallel then they have to say how they are going to stop any young girl in the borough from suffering the agony, humiliation and life-long pain that no child in the seventh richest country in the world should endure.

They introduced TecSOS to help vulnerable women at risk of domestic violence - so surely the time has come to introduce a similar SOS call that a young girl can issue when she fears she might be at risk of being subjected to mutilation?

It is a given that this practice is abhorrent - but what our politicians should be discussing is the concrete action that they will be doing - rather than simply patting themselves on the back for a previous job well done.

Poppy Appeal collectors raised over £15,000

ONCE again, the people of eastern Enfield have been very generous to the Poppy Appeal at remembrance time.

The Eastern Enfield branch of the Royal British Legion has collected £15,500 for the Poppy Appeal.

This money will allow the the Royal British Legion to carry out its benevolent work for the serving and ex-service community.

Thanks go to all the supporters who assembled, delivered, counted and collected for the appeal this year.

Special thanks go to those who collected at the supermarkets -

Christine, Jeff, Sharna, Frances, Mary W, Mary H, Richard, Sylvie, Melissa, Joyce, Janet, David and Eric - who won the shield for the highest collection this year.

Don't cut victim support

THE government is planning on reducing the amount of money available for victim services in London from £13.3million to £8.2m - a cut of more than £5m.

These services support anyone who has been a victim of crime through the often long, complex and sometimes traumatic justice process.

This support can be anything from helping to get locks changed after a break-in, to counselling for the victim of an assault, to support for witnesses during a trial.

It's more important than ever that services which support victims are funded properly as policing in London is under real strain.

The capital has lost 2,500 police officers and a further 2,000 police community support officers have been axed.

Right now, the government is consulting on proposals to fund victim services based on population rather than the amount of crime, and number of victims in a given area.

London accounts for between 20 and 25 per cent of recorded crime nationally, but has only 15 per cent of the nation's population.

This simplistic way of dividing the funding will result in quieter parts of the country getting £22 of funding per victim, while in London it will be £12 - does the government really think victims of crime in London are worth less and deserve less support?

The government must rethink these ludicrous plans and properly fund this vital service.

Railway embankment fight intensifies

RE: The sorry-looking railway embankment in Grange Park.

I am trying to ramp up the pressure on Network Rail to do something about this disaster area. But they are ignoring everyone - even Enfield Southgate MP David Burrows.

The following is an email I sent out to them last week:

Things are warming up.

Denise Thompson (community relations manager) has upset everyone here by not responding to our emails but her hands are tied. Anything she says must be authorised.

But make no mistake, ignore this issue at your peril - it is not going away. We are currently mobilising the press and media to gain as much publicity as possible.

If Network Rail thought that Whitstable (where people fought to save trees on the embankment at the Kent station) was bad enough, then just do nothing and see what happens in north London.

In Whitstable, we were able to stop you before you destroyed the local environment. This has not been the case in Grange Park.

People are very angry. They are looking for redress.

Moreover, I understand Network Rail are compounding their abysmal community relations record by sending out letters notifying residents of more vegetation clearance.

You have lit the blue touch paper. Be warned. Expect fireworks.

You need to change your attitude when it comes to vegetation clearance. You should learn to explain things better. The work should be carried out with more sensitivity to the local area.

As you found out in Whitstable, residents are not unreasonable. After an agreement was brokered you were able to carry out all the vegetation clearance needed to ensure the safe operation of the railway there.

Transport police turned out in large numbers but they were not needed. But how much did this all cost? With a little more thought and understanding you could have saved yourselves and the taxpayer a lot of money.

Although vegetation management has largely been neglected in the last 50 or so years, it is not necessary now to cut down every tree.

I have shown that your soil mechanics arguments for the works are fallacious. Removing all trees from slopes destabilises the soil. It induces rapid failure of the slope.

This is a well-known fact that you have chosen to ignore. It is no wonder that the number of landslips on your network rises year on year.

Peter Johns
Stanbridge Place, Winchmore Hill

Which party should we really trust?

A "NEWS from Joan Ryan" leaflet dropped through the door and, under the heading "Private companies allowed to offer core NHS services", a poignant point was made about the privatisation of NHS services with the supporting of the Health and Social Care Act by MP Nick de Bois.

On the leaflet's front was the message: "Maternity service and A&E cut by the Tory government" and her report mentions "some bad news", continuing to let us know of the promise by David Cameron in 2007 to save Chase Farm Hospital.

But that edge is taken off by the sanctimonious expectation that we have goldfish memories over her and her government's actions.

Under the heading: "We fought together for 13 years", she was saddened "given the great campaign we had to keep those services there".

When in power, this great campaign was asking her constituents to buy into the downgrading of Chase Farm as an improvement.

Ms Ryan lost her position by a reasonably low amount of votes and may have fared better if she had not turned.

The Conservatives gave Mr de Bois a leg-up and, despite his protests over Chase Farm, thanks to his party's betrayal, the hospital was downgraded.

This does further prompt a question about which party/candidate to trust in the long run.

Big thank you

I WOULD like to say a big thank you to all the people who helped me after I collapsed close to Enfield sorting office on Saturday, November 23.

If you are a denture wearer then this article may be of some interest to you!

If you can relate to any of the following questions then it is a sign your denture needs attention:

- DO YOU FIND YOUR DENTURES:
 - Do not fit as well on your gums as they used to?
 - Are they loose?
 - Do not cut food as well as they used to?
 - Do they make your face look older?
 - Have discoloured despite meticulous cleaning or
 - Cause discomfort/pain on chewing?

If any of the above breeds familiar territory then I may be able to alleviate some of these problems for you.

My name is Caroline Persaud I am a qualified CLINICAL DENTAL TECHNICIAN. Many of you may be aware of Dental Technicians/Mechanics who repair and produce dentures for dentists, however, due to recent changes in the Dental Law, a group of Dental Care Professionals known as Clinical Dental Technicians have been approved by the General Dental Council and can now see denture wearers who have no natural teeth remaining, directly without having to visit a dentist. The advantages to you, the patients, are numerous. You can be treated by a professional who has been clinically trained to undertake the impressions of your mouth and who also has the technical skill to manufacture your denture to meet your requirements. MP's fury at rail firm's lack of communication

Burrowes kept waiting for meeting about embankment

By Koos Couvee

koos.couvee@nlhnews.co.uk

ENFIELD Southgate MP David Burrowes has written a furious letter to Network Rail after the railway maintenance firm failed to properly arrange an appointment with a contractor last week.

Mr Burrowes, who has been fighting a battle with the company ever since it cut down a range of trees near Grange Park station in January 2011, wrote that events on Thursday were the "last straw in many years of an unacceptable standard of communications", in the letter sent to Denise Thompson, Network Rail's community relations manager, on Friday.

Mr Burrowes had arranged to meet a contractor at 1pm to tour the railway embankment in Green Dragon Lane and discuss further replanting of trees on the site, but was kept waiting until 3pm.

The MP said he was palmed off with excuses that the contractor was stuck in traffic, which he believed to be untrue.

He was also aggrieved to find out the contractor had been given late notice of the meeting, even though he had been making repeated requests for more than a year.

Mr Burrowes told the Advertiser: "I have been trying to get a meeting with them for over a year to discuss the tree planting scheme on the site, but there has been a disgraceful level of communication from Network Rail and Thursday was the latest episode."

Network Rail, which is currently planning new vegetation works between Palmers Green and Winchmore Hill station, said there had been a "genuine mix-up" over the arrangements for the meeting.

"We understand the sensitivities around this particular site owing to the history of vegetation clearance in the area and appreciate the local community's ongoing concerns," said a spokesman.

"We are currently in the process of re-arranging a site visit with senior representatives from Network Rail for the coming weeks and the local community are also invited to attend."

The firm added that it was firming up plans to replant trees along the embankment in Grange Park and that the latest vegetation works would not be "on the scale of previous work".

Mr Burrowes has called on Network Rail to provide residents with further details of the planned works.

Doubts raised over 'new' primary care funding

THE increase in primary care funding which Prime Minister David Cameron claimed Enfield would receive following the Chase Farm Hospital downgrade does not exist, the Advertiser has discovered.

Responding to a question from Enfield Southgate MP during Prime Minister's Questions in the House of Commons two weeks ago, Mr Cameron claimed that the borough was getting a primary care funding injection as part of what he described "our plan of not cutting but expanding our NHS".

Mr Burrowes had queried whether the borough would get the increase following the downgrade of the hospital, in The Ridgeway, Enfield.

But the £10.6million Mr Burrowes' office said Mr Cameron was referring to is not new money. NHS England said it had been allocated under the NHS North Central London Primary Care Trust cluster two years ago. During 2012/13, £2.7m was spent on improving primary care services, £3.4m is being spent this year and £4.5m has been allocated for 2014/15.

Alev Cazimoglu, chairwoman of Enfield Council's health and well-being scrutiny panel, said: "This is not new money and it was disingenuous of the Prime Minister to pretend otherwise." Mr Burrowes commented: "We try to ensure we get answers we can follow up with the Prime Minister and hold the government to account. We certainly are underfunded in Enfield and I believe we should work together to get the increase we need."

Squatters take over office building

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

SQUATTERS have taken over a disused office building – sparking fears that a crime wave will sweep through the neighbouring residential streets.

The building at the corner of The Bourne and Tudor Way in Southgate, on the site of the former Odeon cinema, has thick chains and padlocks wrapped around the entrance and a sign taped to the inside of the glass door saying that people are now living in the premises and that any attempt to enter will be treated as trespass by the squatters.

Although the chains on the doors are intact, at the side of the building the fence has been partly wrenched away and blankets can be seen draped over the windows at the back of the building.

The Advertiser spoke to residents and although householders would not give their names for fear of the squatters targeting their homes the unanimous feeling on the street was one of fear and frustration.

One resident who lived a short distance from the breached building said: “We first noticed they had moved in about two weeks as we saw the lights were blazing in the windows in the middle of the night.

“They have worked out how to open the electric gates and they’ve parked a van and two cars in there.

“It is very worrying for us along here. We are all talking about it and we ask repeatedly – ‘why doesn’t someone do something about it?’”

Because the building is not a residential property it is not a criminal offence for the squatters to have taken up residence there. In order to remove the squatters, the company which owns the former office block, Crowncourt Properties Ltd, will have to get a court order to formally evict them.

At the time of going to press, Crowncourt Properties was unavailable for comment.

Cost kills campaign

THE fight to save a green space on the border between Enfield and Barnet from development has been lost.

Leader of the Save Cat Hill campaign Kim Coleman told the Advertiser yesterday that she had been forced to withdraw her application for a judicial review of Enfield Council's decision to give planning permission to a development of 231 homes on the site of the former Middlesex University campus after failing to raise enough funds to pay the £23,000 legal bill for the fight.

Despite being told initially that the cost would be £8,000, solicitors acting for Mrs Coleman revealed that, in fact, the overall bill, should she bring her claim to the High Court, would be almost three times as much as she first thought.

"We had a really good legal case against the council," the campaigner told the Advertiser. "Basically the case was based on the fact that during the consultation the council neglected to consult statutory consultees including the Woodland Trust, the Forestry Commission and English Heritage."

She added that as both ponds on the site are recorded in the Doomsday Book they are sites of historical interest. "I am devastated," she said. "We have fought them for three years but I want to say how grateful I am for the residents' support and we did a good job."

A spokesman from developers L&Q Housing told the Advertiser: "Our Cat Hill development will create 231 well-designed homes that match the character of the area."

"As long-term stewards of the ponds, we will implement a 25-year woodland management plan to conserve valuable mature and veteran oak trees across the site and encourage native woodland species, further improving the diversity and value of the woodland habitat for wildlife."

Trial date for sheep sex accused

A MAN accused of trying to have sex with a sheep will stand trial in the new year charged with exposure and outraging public decency.

IT worker Paul Lovell, of Magpie Close, Enfield, is due to appear at Wood Green Crown Court on January 27 after pleading not guilty last Thursday to one count of indecent exposure and one of outraging public decency.

Mr Lovell denies attempting to perform a sex act on a sheep on September 4 in a quiet area in the north of the borough, near the Spurs training ground in Hotspur Way, Bulls Cross, Enfield.

Arson probe after residents flee from flats fire

Rescued: Gainsborough House residents David Johns and Maureen Needham

By Koos Couvée

koos.couvee@nlhnews.co.uk

SIX people were rescued by firefighters after a blaze broke out in a corridor on the tenth floor of a council tower block in Bush Hill Park on Sunday morning.

The residents of Gainsborough House, in Ayley Croft, had to be evacuated and treated for smoke inhalation after a fire began outside their front doors at about 11am.

It started when a small pram caught fire in a suspected arson attack.

Firefighters wearing breathing apparatus rescued a man from one flat, a man and woman from a second flat and another woman from a third.

Two other men were evacuated from the tenth-floor corridor and all those who were rescued were treated for smoke inhalation at the scene.

The London Fire Brigade said the situation was under control by 12.45pm.

David Johns, 65, who has lived in his council flat for 40 years and was one of those rescued, said: "I phoned the fire brigade because of the smoke and they gave me instructions over the phone for half an hour, and they came and got us out in the end. When we came out, the whole corridor was filled with thick black smoke."

After the evacuation Enfield Homes, which manages housing on behalf of the council, arranged for the residents affected to stay overnight in the Travelodge Hotel, in Lincoln Road, Ponders End.

Maureen Needham, 51, who lives across the corridor from Mr Johns and suffers from diabetes, said: "I was allowed to get back into my flat briefly on Sunday evening, but just to get some clothes and my medication. I had to get back out quickly before the fire brigade installed locks on the doors."

Enfield Homes said that the families affected were able to return home at noon on Monday after repairs had been carried out to the front doors of the flats.

Five fire engines with 31 firefighters and officers from Edmonton, Tottenham, Southgate, Walthamstow and Chingford fire stations attended the incident.

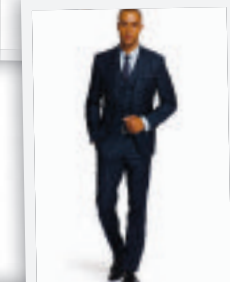

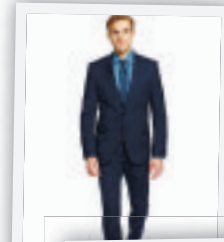

The corridor was severely damaged. The blaze is being investigated.

Hoping: Colin Younger at Broomfield House, which has been in need of major repair work for years

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

THE plight of a 16th-century manor house that has been left to moulder since it was gutted by a succession of fires will come to the fore this week.

Broomfield House in Broomfield Park, Palmers Green, has been falling into further into disrepair since it was destroyed by three fires in 1983, 1993 and 1994.

It currently lies derelict, surrounded by scaffolding and hoardings.

Last year, Enfield Council submitted a £4million bid to the Heritage Lottery Fund in a last ditch attempt to save the grade II* listed building – but the application was rejected on the grounds that more needed to be done to show how the rest of the funding would be raised.

And its current precarious fate is set to be discussed on the BBC's Inside Out programme tomorrow as a follow-up to the 2003 BBC series Restoration, in which various projects competed with each other for the chance to have their particular scheme completed.

One of the campaigners who has been at the forefront of the restoration battle, Colin Younger, is determined that residents should keep fighting for the old building.

"We need £6.4m to restore the building properly, so if the Lottery gave us £2m and if the council was to give one, that means we have got to raise nearly £4.5m," he said.

"So we are hoping that this programme will raise the profile of the campaign.

"We are hoping that the Heritage Lottery Fund will be keen to give us money if we can show how we are going to bridge the funding gap."

Mr Younger and his colleagues in the Broomfield House Trust are hoping that a wealthy benefactor or generous donor will come forward.

And he believes that the project to rebuild the historic home would be the ideal way to galvanise the local community.

"We would love for community groups to use the space in a restored building for a broad range of activities from dance classes to a small cinema.

"It is the ideal location for a real community hub."

The programme will be broadcast on BBC1 at 7.30pm.

Tube drivers will walk out

By Koos Couvée

koos.couvee@nlnews.co.uk

TUBE drivers on the Piccadilly line will stage a 24-hour strike today over the "ripping up" of agreements with London Underground.

The Rail and Maritime Workers' Union last week announced that train operators on the line serving Bounds Green, Southgate, Arnos Grove, Oakwood and Cockfosters stations will walk out from noon.

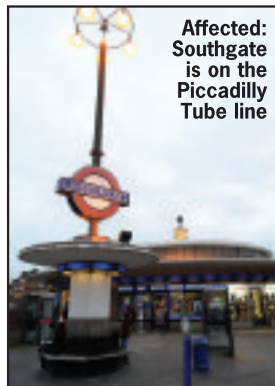

The union said that 88 per cent of drivers balloted voted in favour of strike action as part of an ongoing dispute over "the systematic abuse of drivers and the unilateral ripping up of negotiated agreements" over terms and conditions.

And it threatened a further 48-hour strike if management failed to agree to "a satisfactory resolution" of the dispute.

RMT general secretary Bob Crow said: "Back in May, we entered into an agreement in good faith which we hoped would be honoured and would bring an end to this long-running dispute."

"However, once the threat of strike action had been removed, local management began to systematically undermine and ignore the agreement, which now effectively lies in tatters."

"We have had no option but to move to a ballot and to put on action

Affected: Southgate is on the Piccadilly Tube line

to force this issue back on to the agenda."

London Underground said a strike was "completely unnecessary".

Piccadilly line manager Tony Matthews said: "We met the union earlier this week to talk through the unrelated local issues they have raised, all of which have either been or are being addressed."

"At this very productive meeting we gave our assurances to continue towards resolving these matters."

"I would urge the RMT leadership to continue to discuss any matters which they feel have not been dealt with, in the normal way rather than resorting to threats of industrial action."

Travellers move on

TRAVELLERS who briefly set up camp last week in the car park of a football stadium moved on after negotiations with the council.

A number of caravans appeared in the car park alongside Enfield Playing Fields on Tuesday morning.

The travellers and police were initially engaged in a stand-off.

However, Enfield Council said there had been "peaceful negotiations" throughout the day.

A council spokeswoman said: "At no point were there any altercations whatsoever. It was amicable throughout between the travellers, the council and the police."

The council said it had informed the travellers it would be enforcing park by-laws which were introduced last year. But by 6pm they had left the site of their own accord.

Enfield Town's Isthmian League Cup match with Harlow Town went ahead as planned on Tuesday night at the nearby Queen Elizabeth Stadium.

There is no official provision for travellers anywhere in the borough.

Panto date correction

IN our Christmas supplement The Flipside, we published details of the local Christmas pantos. Unfortunately, we incorrectly published the dates of St Monica's Players' performance of Rapunzel at the Intimate Theatre in Palmers Green.

The correct dates are January 16 to 19. Tickets are £12.50 adults, £10.50 concessions and £41.60 for a family and are available from the box office on 0844 414 2731 or by emailing tickets@smptheatre.co.uk

Entertaining: Edmonton County School's annual party enabled students to connect with elderly people from the area

School dishes out Xmas cheer

By Ruth McKee

ruth.mckee@nlhnews.co.uk

CELEBRATING Christmas at a school in Edmonton is about more than competitive lists sent off to Santa Claus and stuffing yourself with turkey.

At Edmonton County School, in Great Cambridge Road, GCSE and A-level students pulled out all the stops when they treated the elderly from the local community to an afternoon of feasting and festivities in the school hall. In between waiting on their guests hand and foot, the teenagers treated the packed hall to a display of their artistic skills with performances from singers and musicians casting a festive spell over the softly-lit school hall.

The guests were also spellbound by performances from GCSE dance students Eloise Thomas, Mariah Leiba and Taylor Fairbank, who performed a contemporary piece.

And the school was not going to let the guests leave empty-handed as all the students had pooled their resources to give them hampers heaped high with Christmas goodies.

Praising the school's determination to pull out all the stops for the big day, Doris Arnold, 74, of Gordon Road, who was at the event with her husband Bill, said: "The teenagers are so friendly and they really work hard. It really is a lovely thing for them to do."

Behind a painted smile: Organiser Dani Gavriel and five-year-old Maria Culora

OAKWOOD businesses who hosted a three-day festive fundraiser have gathered more than £1,000 for charities.

Dani Gavriel, of Sprint Printers and Stationers, in Bramley Parade, arranged the first Bramley Bonanza in aid of theatre company Chickenshed, based in nearby Chase Side, and the Nightingale Cancer Support Centre, which has a charity shop on the parade.

The event included sessions for children at the Oakwood library, including storytelling with David Burrowes MP, a bakery competition and children's Christmas parties at Trent Park Golf Club, which were sold out, as well as a Christmas card design competition and a raffle drawn by Britain's Got Talent stars Stavros Flatley, who used to run a restaurant on the parade.

The weekend raised £1,275.

Dani said: "The whole parade was busy, you could see how many cars there were, it was chocker. It definitely brought more people to the other shops, it brought people in."

"David Burrowes was really supportive, he brought his children along."

"We are definitely going to do this annually and we will be doing something in the summer because we were restricted by the cold weather."

Take a river cruise with Santa at Glow Festival

THINGS will be getting festive during this weekend's Christmas Glow Festival.

Enfield Council has arranged the three-day event, starting on Friday, with support from the Mayor of London's Outer London Fund, in partnership with the community. The fun will include a skating rink, a Santa cruise along the River Lee and a Victorian fun day in Durants Park, Enfield Highway.

It all begins at noon on Friday with a trip on the water from the Navigation Inn, in Wharf Road, Brimsdown. The river trips continue throughout the weekend, at noon, 2pm and 4pm. Each lasts for 90 minutes and includes surprises for young passengers.

Also on Friday, there will be a skating rink in Ponders End Park, off High Street, from 3pm to 7pm and on Saturday and Sunday from noon. Have a go on the ice for £2 including skate hire.

Durants Park will play host to the main event on Saturday. The park in Hertford Road will stage an interactive past times area including craft making and activities with Victorian-themed performers and a pop-up photo studio. There will also be a traditional carousel and a food court with festive treats including mulled wine and hot chestnuts.

A music marquee will include performances by 2013 Gospel MOBO award

Messing about on the river: Enjoy a festive cruise with Father Christmas winner Laurine Cato, Matt Henry, a 2013 finalist from The Voice, and Peridot Dance Krew, from Britain's Got Talent.

The fun concludes on Sunday at the Co-Op Unity Store car park in Hertford Road, Enfield Wash, with a Christmas market run by Enterprise Enfield which will include traders offering gift ideas and a funfair from noon to 4pm.

Cabinet member for business and regeneration Del Goddard said: "The Christmas Glow Festival is not just a celebration of Christmas, it is a fun-packed weekend of activities for the family which also happens to showcase everything that is good about north-east Enfield.

"There will be something for everyone over the weekend, so why not pay us a visit, have some fun and see what this part of the borough has to offer?"

To book a cruise, call 0845 116 2012 or email info@leeandstortboats.co.uk. Trips cost £3 for adults, £5 for the first child and £3 for extra kids up to a maximum of four.

Where to go... and when

THURSDAY

Christmas Winter Wonderland, Waverley School, The Ride, Ponders End, 4pm-8pm.
The school's charity, Waverley Association for Special People, is organising the event, with entrance costing £1 per adult.

Talkies Community Cinema - Ai Weiwei: Never Sorry (2012), The Dugdale Centre, London Road, Enfield Town, 7.30pm.
Over three years, acclaimed filmmaker Alison Klayman gained unprecedented access to Ai Weiwei as he prepared for exhibitions, spent time with his family and eventually came to blows with the Chinese government. Klayman's detailed portrait of the artist provides a nuanced exploration of contemporary China and one of its most compelling public figures.
Tickets: £5. Box office: 020 8807 6680.

SATURDAY

Crafts, gifts and pamper event, Highlands Village Hall, Florey Square, Winchmore Hill, 2pm-6pm.

There will be businesses selling hand-made crafts and gift ideas, as well as treatments including shiatsu massage, reflexology, facials and crystal healing.
For children, there will be a lucky dip with instant prizes, a face painter and a creative table.
The event will be raising funds for Cancer Research UK.

Celebrate Christmas, St Ignatius College, Turkey Street, Enfield, 7.30pm.

Adoramus Christian Choir presents Celebrate Christmas. Musical director David Hooke will lead the choir through a variety of Christmas choral music and a selection of carols.

The choir will be accompanied by organist Robert Evans, harpist Cecilia Sultana De Maria and a brass ensemble.
Tickets cost £14 (£7 for 16 years and under) and are available from 07816 998 308 or www.wegotickets.com/adoramus

SATURDAY and SUNDAY

Children's International Voices' Christmas concert, The Dugdale Centre, London Road, Enfield Town, 7pm.

The group of five choirs aged four to 24 will be performing A New Star, by Welsh composer Gareth Glyn, a cantata telling the Christmas story in a modern style and Christmas carols.
Tickets: £10 adults, £5 kids. Box office: 020 8807 6680.

WYNCHMORE PROPERTY SERVICES ARE YOUR LOCAL SPECIALIST LETTING AGENCY

As one of the local areas Letting and Property Management specialists, established in 1994, Wynchmore Property Services, now seen as one of the local leading independent Letting Agents, are celebrating their 19th anniversary year.

Managing Director, Jeff Wynne said, "This is a very exciting time for Wynchmore Property Services as we celebrate 19 years in the local area, letting thousands of properties with many satisfied clients both Landlords and Tenants alike."

Unlike most agencies who are Estate Agents with a Lettings department we specialise in Letting and Property Management only. We do not sell properties therefore, we concentrate solely on lettings. Most of our business over the last 19 years has been by recommendation or word of mouth and most of our clients have been with us for many years. We also have a lot of repeat business.

We let properties in the traditional way. All our flat and house Tenants are credit checked and fully referenced. We only deal with professional or student lettings. As one of the largest agents in the area for room lettings we always have a constant demand for good quality rooms, but we also let many studios, 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 bed flats and houses.

We belong to the Association of Residential Letting Agents (ARLA) the National Association of Estate Agents - Letting Division (NAEA), The National Approved Letting Scheme (NALS), the Safe Agent Scheme and the Property Ombudsman Scheme and we are able to offer Rent Guarantee and legal expenses plus Buildings and Contents Insurance for your complete peace of mind.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank all of our past and present clients for their continued business and support and look forward to welcoming you in the future.

If you are thinking of Letting your property or looking for a property call Wynchmore Property Services efficient, enthusiastic team today. wynchmoreproperty.co.uk

When I grow up I want to be...

A Landlord! Ok, so that's not what most of us said when we were little but with low interest rates and an increasing number of renters, more people are investing in buy-to-let property or letting rather than selling an existing property.

For most Landlord's this is a long-term plan providing a regular monthly income and ultimately capital growth. However, it has recently been claimed that four in ten landlords cannot afford to miss one month's rent!

Rent is often needed to cover the mortgage, and whether through arrears or having an empty property, a lack of rent can cause serious problems (and lots of stress!)

There are many ways to minimise the risk of arrears including thorough referencing, good communication with tenants, and investment in rent and legal protection. In terms of void periods, good communication is likely to make your tenants want to stay but if they do leave, then a well maintained property will attract new tenants.

However, Landlords should look to protect themselves further with a rainy day fund. I advise my Landlords to expect one month void per year but to budget for at least two.

Similarly when looking to invest in a new property, look at the figures closely. If you cannot achieve a net yield of over 5% when all costs are included (e.g. void periods, mortgage payments, property maintenance), then it's best to walk away and wait for the next deal.

Contact me for advice on making property investment work for you.

Another performance packed with power

If you don't know the Nissan GT-R by now, then here's a very short introduction – Japanese company makes absurdly powerful and fiendishly complicated four-wheel drive coupe that thrashes more expensive rivals. The end.

The GT-R has been something of a jewel in the crown for Nissan. Ever since the first modern generation Skyline GT-R appeared in 1989, it's been a car to upset the establishment, mainly by destroying prestigious competition on both road and track.

This latest R35 model first appeared in the UK in 2009 and has been upgraded twice. Now comes the 2013 incarnation, which has no more power than last year's model, although there are some tweaks and changes.

Firstly, the engine. It was already hugely powerful and complex – a 3.8-litre V6 with twin turbochargers, developing a massive 542bhp and 465lb ft of torque. Those figures remain the same, but new specification injectors and a boost pressure relief valve are said to have improved mid and high-rev response.

That may be so, but you'll be too busy clinging on and trying to maintain a sense of dignity to notice.

The engine has power to spare and as soon as the accelerator is squeezed it starts dishing it out.

Then there's the handling. The R35 GT-R introduced a new, four-wheel-drive system and a host of baffling acronyms to represent the vast computing power devoted to getting you round the bend as quickly as possible.

For the 2013 model, minute changes to the springs, dampers, front anti-roll bar and cam bolts are claimed to improve the handling still further.

Unless you fly fighter jets or drive Formula 1 cars, you will be astounded at what the GT-R can do. It has four-wheel drive and four-wheel steering, both of which maximise the grip of the sticky tyres and allow you to harness all that power.

It sounds like a fearsome beast – but don't be fooled. The GT-R, in many ways, is quite benign. The cabin is pretty straightforward and the seats are very supportive.

You can slot the automatic dual-clutch transmission into D and ease away. Aside from the unquestionable firmness, you have no idea you're driving something quite spectacular.

It doesn't take long to change that, however.

Bring the GT-R to rest, engage R mode in the transmission and vehicle dynamics control, squeeze the brake hard and put the accelerator to the floor. The engine will hold at 4,000rpm and in 2.7 seconds the GT-R will reach 60mph, with 100mph coming up in under nine seconds.

It's no less impressive through the bends either. You're always aware of what the GT-R is doing and how

Facts at a glance

■ Model: Nissan GT-R, £76,610.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.

2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.

To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', '(f)' etc. in the advertisement.

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:

- Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
- Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
- Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.

4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.

8. All gross advertising rates (except classified line and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.

10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.

11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.

12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.

13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.

(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.

(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 6% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. Should Legal action be required the interest will be charged in accordance with the County Court Act 1984.

14. Where an advertiser instructs / appoints an advertising agent to act on their behalf, the advertiser will remain jointly and severally liable for payment in respect of an advertisement(s) and the appointed agent fail to pay. For the avoidance of doubt, the agent acts for the advertiser and not for the publisher with the agent being responsible for notifying the advertiser of this liability.

15. All queries must be notified, preferably in writing to the accounts department of the publisher within 7 days of the invoice date.

16. All digital services are maintained in partnership with the publishers' hosting service providers. Every effort is made to ensure the continuity of these services, but some occasional technical downtime beyond the publishers control may occur. The publisher and its associated companies shall be under no liability if the production and distribution of web services is delayed or prevented by any cause beyond the control of the publisher.

17. The Publisher may provide voucher copies for published advertisements in electronic form only subject to certain criteria. Further information is available on request.

18. The copyright of advertisements produced wholly or partially by the Publishers belong to the Publishers. Advertisers may not reproduce such advertisements without the Publishers' consent.

Box Numbers
Boxes are open for the receipt of bona fide answers and are not available for distribution of trade canvassing matter. Original testimonials, goods, cash, cash stamps or payments of any kind must not be enclosed. A box Number and postal address are charged as part of the advertisement, i.e. Box No., centre address. There is no charge for forwarding replies.

Box numbers alone are not available for use in 'Trade' advertisements, other than Employment and Business Opportunities.

Holiday & Travel Category
All advertising must contain the name of the advertiser, phone number alone are not permitted.

Data Protection
The service you have requested may require us to carry out a credit search at a credit-referencing agency, which will record the fact that a search has been made. We may need to share your information with other lenders and credit reference agencies.

However, we will only use the information from these searches to make credit-granting decisions and, if necessary, for fraud prevention or tracing debtors.

Data controller will use your information for administration and analysis. We may share your information with other Tindle Group Newspaper companies or carefully selected third parties. We, or they, may send you details of other goods and services, which may be of interest to you. The information may be provided by letter, telephone or other reasonable means of communication. Calls may be recorded or monitored for training purposes.

Special conditions apply with regard to the advertising of adult services, which are outlined to all persons submitting such advertisements.

AVB: PLAYERS SHOWED MUCH MORE DESIRE

TOTTENHAM Hotspur manager Andre Villas-Boas praised his side's resilience after the 2-2 draw with Manchester United on Sunday.

Spurs twice led in the Premier League clash at White Hart Lane through Kyle Walker's free-kick and a screamer from Sandro.

But they were pegged back on both occasions by Wayne Rooney.

And while admitting that victory would have been the "perfect result", AVB was happy with his side's display – coming just a week after they had been thumped 6-0 at Manchester City.

The Portuguese boss said: "I'm happy with the response of the players, the ambition, the motivation, the desire to bounce back.

"It could have been the perfect ending but unfortunately we couldn't finish the situations we had.

"It's never easy to play a team like United, who came here on the back of a 5-0 win in the Champions League against Bayer Leverkusen.

"So I congratulate the players on a wonderful performance.

"The result wasn't what we wanted, but it puts us back on track."

The result, coupled with a 2-0 Europa League success at Tromsø on Thursday, eased the pressure on the under-fire Villas-Boas.

Following the humiliating defeat away to City, he had been criticised by sections of Tottenham supporters, with various names mooted as a replacement as there was speculation he would be sacked.

After Sunday's game, AVB praised Tottenham's fans as he spoke to the club's official website.

He said: "It was great support from the fans, a great atmosphere at the Lane as you can imagine.

"We can't live without the fans and they have been decisive."

Full-back Walker opened the scoring on 18 minutes when he drilled a free-kick under United's defensive wall.

But it was a mistake by Walker 14 minutes later which allowed United to level, with Rooney pouncing after the Spurs defender had dallied as he dealt with a cross from Phil Jones into the six-yard box.

Sandro fired Tottenham back in "Wonderful performance": Andre Villas-Boas praised his team's display against Manchester United front nine minutes into the second period when he shrugged off the attention of Tom Cleverley and fired a 30-yard arrow into the top corner.

That lead lasted just three minutes with referee Mike Dean awarding a penalty after Spurs goalkeeper Hugo Lloris brought down Danny Welbeck – Rooney making no mistake from the spot.

Both teams pushed for a winner, with Andros Townsend inches away from meeting a Walker cross to the far post ten minutes from time. But they had to settle for a point a piece from an entertaining game.

Tottenham are back in action this evening when they travel to London rivals Fulham (8pm).

The Cottagers sacked manager Martin Jol on Sunday after five successive defeats, the latest setback a tame 3-0 reverse at West Ham.

Under new boss Rene Meulensteen, who steps up from head coach after just a month at the club, the west London outfit will have much to prove against their ninth-placed visitors.

Villas-Boas, who dropped record signing Erik Lamela for "technical reasons", with Mousa Dembele returning to the side in a holding role as Paulinho was pushed further forward on Sunday, is likely to keep an unchanged side for the trip to Craven Cottage.

On Saturday, Spurs travel to another side in the bottom three, Sunderland (5.30pm).

We responded well, says skipper Dawson

TOTTENHAM Hotspur captain Michael Dawson said that Spurs responded to their critics after the 2-2 draw with Manchester United on Sunday.

The White Hart Lane outfit had come in for plenty of flak after the 6-0 hammering at Manchester City the previous Sunday.

But they responded well and could even have taken all three points after leading twice.

Centre-back Dawson said: "We took a lot of criticism last week – fully deserved because 6-0 is not acceptable.

"But we showed some character out here.

"After the feeling we had last week, to pick ourselves up and go out and perform against a top team like United is credit to everyone. It's been a hard week to have that hanging over us but we bounced back and we're disappointed not to have won after taking the lead twice.

"We kept going, showed commitment and determination to fight for each other. The fact that we're disappointed not to beat United says it all."

Oxford opener for London Skolars

LONDON Skolars will begin their Kingstone Press Championship 1 campaign away to Oxford RL on Sunday, March 2.

Joe Mbu's men were handed the trip to Iffley Road for the season opener when the 2014 campaign fixtures were announced on Monday.

Championship 1 will again be composed of nine teams this season, with relegated Hunslet Hawks and York City Knights taking the place of last season's champions North Wales Crusaders and play-off winners Rochdale Hornets.

And it is against Hunslet that Skolars will play their traditional Friday Night Lights fixture on August 22.

Skolars' first home game of the new season is against Oldham Roughyeds, who beat them in the play-offs. That will take place on Sunday, March 23 – following a three-week gap from league action after the trip to Oxford.

Other stand-out fixtures on the schedule include the Good Friday derby match at Hemel Stags on April 18. The return match against Skolars' Hertfordshire rivals takes place on Sunday, July 13.

There are four additional league matches on the calendar this season as there will be no Northern Rail Cup competition.

That will mean Skolars travel to Oxford and York twice, while Oldham and South Wales Scorpions will visit the New River Stadium on two occasions.

The second away match at York on September 7 is the last match of the regular league season.

Automatic promotion has also been ditched this season, with the top five sides qualifying for the play-offs and only the winner of the grand final moving up to the Championship.

For a full list of the new season's fixtures, visit www.skolarsrl.com

Depleted Borough are back on track

HARINGEY Borough returned to winning ways as they claimed a 2-0 victory at Ilford in the Essex Senior League.

As in the 3-1 midweek defeat at Sawbridgeworth Town, Borough again went into the match at Cricklefield Stadium with a depleted side.

But this time they did enough to take all three points, with Tyrone Cazaubon and Dean Fenton netting within a two-minute spell at the end of the first half.

Borough were due to play their closest away match of the season last night when they took on tenants Greenhouse London at Coles Park in the Essex Senior League.

And on Saturday, Haringey are at home to Brantham Athletic in the third round of the FA Vase (3pm).

Brantham are currently seventh in the Premier Division of the Thurlow Nunn Eastern Counties Football League.

The Suffolk side won 2-1 at Hadley in the previous round of the competition to set up their trip to north London.

Haringey Borough are also expected to face action from the league after ugly scenes marred the end of their defeat at Sawbridgeworth.

An already fractious match had seen Borough's Dewayne Clarke dismissed soon after half-time.

By that point they were already 2-0 down, although Cedric Lakole missed a golden opportunity to cut the deficit just before the break when he skied his penalty attempt.

Sawbridgeworth got a third goal almost on 90 minutes with Anthony McDonald racing clear to claim a very late consolation for the visitors.
